Seasonal influenza vaccination is an effective tool for prevention of influenza and its complications. The US Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) recommends yearly vaccination against influenza in all persons 6 months of age or older. All persons who have had a previous dose of influenza vaccine should receive a second dose 1 year later. The ACIP continues to recommend that vaccinees should be given a minimum of 2 doses of influenza vaccine. This recommendation is based on an analysis of the efficacy of 2 doses of influenza vaccine at preventing influenza A virus infection and on the findings that a single dose of vaccine results in only a moderate degree of protection. The ACIP also continues to recommend that individuals who have a significant risk for complications from influenza should be given a third dose of influenza vaccine.Q: How to use the 'if' function in ArangoDB I'm trying to check if a field is null, and if it is, insert the value.
